Our journey so far

This is to provide you with a brief overview of our incredible story and our values. We are huge believers in helping our clients achieve optimum satisfaction, and that's how the company began. We started as Management consultants where, we provide industry counsel, advice and functional expertise in specialized areas such as strategy, mergers, governance, reorganizations, organization design, strategic leadership, operations, finance, risk management, digital transformation, information technology, organizational change management, then focused on supplies of PPE (Personal Protective Equipment) and building material.

When the Covid-19 pandemic was declared in March 2020, we didn't want to close our business that was affected, so we decided to do something different to help and support the community, because most businesses were affected one way or the other and that was when, we decided to supply sanitization products to various places in Africa. using fully certified and non-harmful chemicals. to help save lives and protect those most vulnerable. We are happy to say that these opened more opportunities to us in Africa.

Our business model is built on this passion and dedication to helping people. Our clients saw what we did and offered us an opportunity by introducing us to more companies to supply PPE and Building Material to in various parts of Africa. Please do get in touch.
